EXPERT REX'S REPORT

Municipal Council Will Ask Him to Prove His Statements

The municipal council will meet tomorrow afternoon and will take some definite action on the matter of a contagious hospital site. The report of the expert accountant, Mr. Rex, will come before the board and one of the commissioners stated today that he thought Mr. Rex should be summoned to explain his criticism of officials and methods employed in certain offices.

The board is not by any means unanimous in desiring to accept Mr. Rex's report with the understanding that everything contained therein is the gospel truth. At least two of the commissioners are from Missouri, so to speak, and they want to be shown. The assessors of taxes declare that Mr. Rex made statements that had no foundation, in fact and it is up to Mr. Rex to prove his statements. That's about the way the thing is figured out at city hall. Mr. Rex's bill hasn't been paid yet and, as a matter of fact, he has not submitted it and Alderman Barrett said today that the bill ought not to be paid until Mr. Rex had made good on his charges. If Mr. Rex makes good then it is up to the municipal council to do the rest. The chances are the meeting tomorrow afternoon will be a very lively and a very interesting one.

The Great White Way
The commissioner of streets and highways will have a bunch of petitions to present at tomorrow's meeting and there is one, that is said, to have to do with the great white way proposed by the commissioner in the long ago. The petition in question is from the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to attach wires temporarily to poles in Merrimack and ances arising in future, agree to meet committees of your employees, without any interference of outside parties, be they officers of labor organizations or any other parties, for possible adjustment of all controversies?

Believing that you are sincere in your desire to establish industrial peace in Lowell, Mass., we feel safe in assuming that you will take up these

THE TITANIC THE LARGEST STEAMSHIP IN THE WORLD

Steamer Badly Damaged Crawls Towards Halifax, 600 Miles Off

Wireless despatches up to noon today showed that the passengers on the monster White Star liner Titanic, which struck an iceberg off the Newfoundland coast last night, were being transferred aboard the steamer Carpathia, a Cunarder which left New York April 13th for Naples.

Already 20 boatloads of the Titanic's passengers have been transferred aboard the Carpathia and allowing 40 to 60 people as the capacity of each lifeboat some 800 or 1200 people have already been transferred from the damaged liner to the Carpathia. Another liner, the Parisian, of the Allan company, which sailed from Glasgow for Halifax on April 6th is already close at hand and assisting in the work of rescue. The Baltic and Virginian are also near the scene and the Olympic, the sister ship of the Titanic, is apparently near at hand, as the wireless information concerning the transfer comes from Captain Haddock of the Olympic.

The latest reports indicate that the transfer of passengers is being carried on successfully and safely. The sea is smooth and the weather calm. It is probable that all of the passengers of the Titanic are safe.

While badly damaged the Titanic is still afloat and is reported to be making her way toward Halifax under her own steam.

The accident occurred at 10:25 last night at a point about 400 miles south of Cape Race, N. F., and about 1100 miles east of New York.

The Titanic is the largest steamer ever built. She is 882 feet long and has 46,328 tons displacement. She was launched last May and this was her maiden trip.

Among the passengers aboard are Col. and Mrs. J. J. Astor, Alfred Vanderbilt, Major Butt, military aide to President Taft, F. D. Millet, the artist, and William T. Stead, the English writer. The liner carries 1400 passengers and a crew of 800.

tent and fragmentary messages, failed completely.

The last words sent by the operator told that the vessel was apparently sinking by the head and that the women passengers were being rushed into the lifeboats. A reassuring feature was that the weather was calm and clear and likely only a few hours away.

The First Message

The Titanic's first "S. O. S." message was received by the Allan liner Virginian, which, according to the post office, was not more than 170 miles away. The captain of the Virginian at once started his boat at full steam for the scene of the disaster, announcing to his brother officer on the bridge of the Titanic that the Virginian should reach him by ten o'clock this morning.

The weather was calm and clear, the Titanic's wireless operator reported and he gave the position of the vessel as 41° 16' north latitude and 50° 14' west longitude. The Marconi station at Cape Race notified the Allan liner Virginian, the captain of which immediately advised that he was proceeding for the scene of the disaster.

The Virginian at midnight was about 170 miles distant from the Titanic and expected to reach the vessel about 10 a. m. Monday.

"The Olympic was at midnight in direct communication with the Titanic and is now making all haste toward her. The steamer Baltic also reported herself as about 200 miles east of the Titanic at 1:15 a. m. and making all possible speed toward her.

Word From Cape Race

Immediate inquiry by the Associated Press for an urgent despatch to the Marconi station at Cape Race was answered soon afterward in the following words: "At 10:25 last night the steamer Titanic, C. Q. D. and reported having struck an iceberg. The steamer said that immediate assistance was required. Half an hour afterwards another message came reporting that they were sinking by the head and that the women were being put off in small boats.

Signals Were Blurred

"The last signals from the Titanic were heard by the Virginian at 12:27 a. m. The wireless operator on the Virginian says these signals were blurred and ended abruptly."

"Nothing could have caused much greater alarm than did this meagre news in New York this morning. The Titanic is the biggest boat in the world. She has on board more than 2000 persons, 1100 passengers and a crew of 800 men. A large percentage, if not a majority of the passengers, are Americans.

The newspaper offices were besieged by inquiries from hundreds of persons shocked by the fragmentary messages seen at the breakfast tables but in the early morning hours there was nothing vital to add to the alarming reports from Cape Race. Something further was expected every moment but there was

THE TAXES

It is noticeable and equally interesting to observe how much some people make of TAXES. We won't just now enter on discussion as to the justice or lack of justice under prevailing practices, but call attention to the fact that many who show such activity prior to April 1st do much toward providing the wherewithal to meet their final tax assessments, if they showed the same activity and thoughtfulness in making their Bank Deposits work for them throughout the year. Make the Cash on hand, the Cash waiting investment, the Cash waiting any use, earn interest while idle. Five Hundred Dollars balances earn interest at Middlesex Trust Co. at rate of two per cent. Interest commences when deposit is made. Money is always subject to check. The interest earned will provide many things, and as we started to say, it will help pay the taxes.

Got After Congressman Ames in Speech Here Saturday Night

More than 2000 people, nearly half of them women, listened to Theodore Roosevelt make a campaign speech at the Middlesex street station Saturday night. Mr. Roosevelt was very雄心勃勃, having made several speeches during the day and a great many who gathered there did not hear what he said. One man, however, "How about Standard Oil?" Teddy snuffed the query and just then another fellow shouted: "Give it to Teddy, you're the boy for us!" The fellow who couldn't hear Mr. Roosevelt was entreated by comments of his neighbors and the comments were varied. There were a great many people there and they were not all for Roosevelt, but it was plain to be seen that most of the fair sex were strong for Teddy. One of them, a little shorter than the average, stood beside the writer and complained bitterly because she could not see the speaker. "I've seen so many pictures in the papers and they are all so different that I want to see the man." The poor little soul complained and was almost on the point of weeping when she turned up courage to say: "Please hit me on the head. I can see Mr. Roosevelt. I want to see him smile and I want to see his teeth." It was a lady's request and we never turned one down since we crossed the 30th.

The greatest cheer given Mr. Roosevelt was when he referred to a remark credited to Congressman Butler Ames. It was alleged that Mr. Ames said he would rather be defeated with Taft than go to bed with Roosevelt, and Taft is allowed that that was agreeable to him. The train to which Mr. Roosevelt's car was attached did not reach the Middlesex street station until 10:15 and the tracks in front of the station and the platform were crowded. The platform, however, was complete and Mr. Post, the man who was looking out for Mr. Roosevelt's interests, had already been informed.

People so crippled with rheumatism that they could not walk have been ably freed from pain and the swollen joints brought back to their normal condition.

over and congratulated him on the manner in which the policing was done. "The police arrangements here," he said, "were better than we experienced in any part of the country. Everything was perfect and Mr. Roosevelt was asked me to congratulate you," explained Mr. Welch and yourself," said Capt. Welch. "Our desire is to do everything in the best way possible and as a general rule, that's the way we do it."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from a platform on the eastward side of the station and he reached the platform through the depot roadway. It was here that the perfect policing showed itself. The crowd swarmed like bees, but the way from the car to the platform was kept absolutely clear.

William N. Osgood of this city, who had accompanied the Roosevelt party through New Hampshire during the day, introduced the colonel as "the next president of the United States." In part, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Recently I saw that Mr. Butler Ames of your city was reported as saying that he would rather be defeated with Taft than elected with me. I don't often agree with Butler Ames in matters political, but I must heartily agree with him in this case. I would rather see him defeated with anybody than be elected with me."

"I want to congratulate the people of Massachusetts on their progressiveness in voting for a direct primary for the presidential nomination, but I hope your legislators will not stop at that. I would like to see you elect your senators by direct vote. When I ask for genuine popular rule, I ask that the people be given the same chance that the individual expects in his relations with the individual."

"We all make mistakes now and then, but when I make them I want to make them myself. I don't want someone else to make them for me. If I make them myself, I won't make them twice, while someone else may. In the long run, day in and day out, the American people will govern themselves better than anyone acting for them as a 'representative part.'

"I stand for a more direct government by the people. Whenever you strike a job, you will find another man ready to take it up and work it for his own interests. In politics, it is the same—If you waive your rights, and delegate your power to others, the bosses will assume full control. That is why I have been asking for a presidential primary, and now in this state, you have the opportunity of saying whether you are with me or with the strikes here and elsewhere are all simply phenomena of a great revolution that is stirring the heart of all mankind."

"I cannot enter into a discussion of the campaign. I simply ask you to judge my words by my deeds. Among the many accusations which the opponents have hurled at me (and there is nothing I have not been accused of) is that I am a dictator, but did you ever hear of me dictating to the people? I know the American people are fit to govern themselves and can do it better than a 'representative minority,' and I hope that the American people will take the trouble to do it. I base my belief in the future of America on my knowledge of the American people."

DR. NELSON DEAD

Forfeits His Life to Researches

BOSTON, April 15.—Dr. Louis Nelson, a young physician of Boston, who had been winning a name for himself by his researches in bacteriology, died yesterday at the Elliot Hospital, Andover road, as the result of his experiments.

Dr. Nelson for the past year has been an instructor at the Harvard Medical school and for six months had been making a study of the recently discovered "gas bacilli" which are believed to generate the gases in the human system.

While engaged in his laboratory experiments, he became infected by these bacilli some eight weeks ago and had grown steadily worse. He was taken to the Elliot hospital and an operation was planned, but it was found the bacilli had produced intestinal inflammation so severe to permit of any attempt to save his life.

RICHARDS IN COURT

Police Didn't Believe His Threat to Commit Suicide

George A. Richards, the man who tried to bluff the police that he had committed suicide, was arraigned in Lawrence yesterday morning on a complaint charging him with illegal cohabitation. Inasmuch as the Lowell police had sent up a warrant for a more serious complaint, bigamy, the case was placed on the docket and he was turned over to the Lawrence police.

It is alleged that Richards was married a number of years ago but tired of his wife soon after the marriage and left her. Subsequently he met one Clara Dion and it is alleged that he was married to her and the pair had been living in Baldwin street, this city. When Richards' first wife, who was in Manchester, heard of the whereabouts of her husband, she notified the police and the pair were arrested.

When arraigned in court, about a week ago, the case was continued in order that the Lawrence police could serve a warrant. Richards secured bail and a few days afterwards Supt. Welsh received a letter supposed to be sent by Richards which stated that he was ashamed to appear in court and intended to commit suicide by drowning himself in the Merrimack river and in about nine days his body would be found in the river between Lowell and Lawrence.

The story did not throw the police off the track, however, and Saturday

Richards was arrested in Manchester and brought back to this city.

Larceny of Rain Coat

A man who gave the name of James B. Keith was called upon to answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a rain coat belonging to George R. Dame, the well known automobile man. Inasmuch as the government was not ready for trial the case was postponed till next Monday.

Neglected His Children

William Landry after being found guilty of failing to provide support for his three minor children was sentenced to five months in jail.

Drunken Offenders

Bernard F. Higgins was sentenced to the state farm but appealed. Peter McLane, a parole man, will be returned to the state farm. Daniels Kennedy was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail. George L. Ferris was fined $6, one first offender was fined $2 and five simple drunks were released.

James T. Ganley, of this city, was arrested Saturday night by Captain Brosnan for the Lawrence police. Ganley is well known to the police of New England and only recently completed an 18 months' term in jail.

The quarterly convention of District council, No. 5, Union St. Jean Baptiste, referred to fraternal organizations, was held in Amesbury yesterday under the auspices of St. Jean Baptiste council of the latter place.

FOR

FURS

Furs stored in the home, however carefully, come out flat and crushed in the fall. Preservatives frequently fail and often fail to keep out moths. They cannot be thoroughly cleaned by the owner and the risk from fire and thieves must also be considered. The only safe place in summer is in dry, cold storage and under the care of competent furriers.

Insist on Having Your Furs Put in Cold Storage and Then They Are Absolutely Safe

All furs stored are insured 100 cents on the dollar against fire, burglary and theft and against damage by moths. We have on exhibit in one of the Merrimack street windows, two pictures of our cold storage vault where your furs will be absolutely safe from moths, fire or thieves.

A Disastrous Fire in Augusta, Me.

AUGUSTA, Me., April 15.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a fire which raged for more than four hours early today and which for a time threatened to wipe out considerable of the business section of this city. Starting from an unknown cause in the basement of a fruit store in the Bowman block on Water street, the fire spread rapidly to other wooden buildings on that thoroughfare. Hard work by the firemen and the fact that brick buildings were located on either side of the wooden blocks kept the flames from spreading beyond the section running between numbers 131-161.

The old city hotel building and the Theatre Comique were destroyed and a tenement house was also wiped out.
The losers included Rand and Stearns, bakers; Wilfrid Perry, restaurante; Mrs. Margaret Merrill, theatre and bowling alley; Nathan Richmond, drygoods store; Lewis Levine, fruit store;
C. E. Daggett, fish market; C. B. Murphy, drug store.

Considerable of the property burned was owned by Charles B. Bowman of Los Angeles, Cal. Occupants of stores and tenements in the burned buildings lost goods worth $65,000 and the loss on the damaged buildings reached $35,000. About 80 per cent of the loss is covered by insurance.

When the fire started about 25 persons were asleep in the old City hotel building, and they were obliged to flee into the streets, many of them being unable to secure their clothing and effects.
The flames reached the building soon after they made their escape and their return to save property was made impossible. Several firemen had a narrow escape from injury when a wall, on the rear end of one of the buildings fell. The men were wedged in between the river and the burning buildings and were forced to make a hasty run out of the danger zone to avoid being struck by the falling wall.
A few firemen were overcome by smoke which filled the whole business section.

WHO TOILS HARDEST?

One of the main contentions of the socialists in their onslaughts on capital and the wage system is, that the men who preside over large corporations "do not work." This is undoubtedly a popular delusion. It is true that they do not work with heavy tools such as the pick and shovel; but many a man at the head of some large business envies the man who can drop his pick and shovel at 5 or 6 o'clock daily and have nothing more to do until 7 or 8 o'clock the next morning. These reflections have been suggested by the remarks of a corporation man who expressed the wish that he could go to his home at the close of working hours and leave his business behind him. He envied the man who drops his pick at a certain hour and who can enjoy his rest at home without fretting and worrying over things that have gone wrong and other things that are liable to go wrong.

The man who is employed at manual labor does not know what mental worry is. He can forget his work the minute his hours of labor are over and need not think of it again till the next day. Not so with the mill agent, the business man or the professional mental toiler, each of whom is responsible to somebody else for certain results.

What if these results be not attained? What if the outlook is bad? Will the discouraging prospect not follow the official like an avenging Nemesis wherever he goes? Will it not affect his digestion, his nerves, system and keep him awake nights? While the man who works on the street, in the sewer or in the subordinate capacity in the factory, has no responsibility outside of working hours, the business man, the high official, the banker and the merchant, feel it all the time. How often are these men worried into their graves by failure in business while their employees are care free and even willing to denounce them as idlers who live on other people's money!

It is not generally known that the hardest labor of all is intense mental labor. It has been said by a well known business man in this city that in the ups and downs of business he has often endured more real mental anguish in one night than the average laborer would experience in the whole course of his life.

It is very easy to make general charges against men who are at the head of large undertakings, and accuse them of not working for a living. The fact is, that most of them work from ten to fifteen or sixteen hours a day, but they are occupied mentally during that time with the affairs of their business and many of them cannot drop it if they tried. The frequent business failures, the loss of fortunes with the reverses arising from competition and other causes, bear testimony to the trials and struggles of business men in their battle for success. Yet when they do succeed by patient industry through many years, by frugality, courage and enterprise, they are not likely to enjoy being accused of robbing the laborer of his "hard earned tool." The fact is, that they have worked a great deal harder than did any laborer and they have dearly earned every dollar they possess. The man who invests his money in any industry takes serious chances of loss while at best his dividends may not amount to more than what he would receive if like the mill operative he deposited the money in the bank.

The mental toilers, the men who plan and direct or supervise, are the men who, as a rule, work hardest and longest. They are the men who have to bear the most intense anxiety and all the ills that mental strain entails. If it were possible for the average laborer to realize what one of these men has to go through, we do not believe he would be willing to change places with the mental worker, or if he did we believe he would probably wish he were back at his former job on which his wages were secure every Saturday night and he was free of all responsibility except in business hours.

THE END OF THE MILL STRIKE

It is gratifying to know that the industrial conflict that has retarded business in our city since March 25th is soon to terminate. While the strikers have scored what may be termed a victory, it is to be regretted that the mills will remain closed for another week, but perhaps this prolonged shut-down will prevent recurrence later on. The mills in New Bedford after granting a 10 per cent. increase have already planned for a period of inactivity in the summer. The Lowell mills will probably find it difficult to catch up with their orders by working continuously through the summer and fall.

The mill business has been as good this year as at any time during the past six years, and it must have been a serious blow to the local factories to lose a month's business. It was certainly a very great loss not only to the operatives but to the business men of the city to have mills closed for an entire month.

We hope the operatives will all return to work next Monday with the best of feeling and determination to do their utmost to promote the interest of their employers. The 10 per cent. increase will mean considerable in the long run as it will give the operatives at least $10,000 a week more than they had been receiving under the old schedule.

The operatives have won the respect of the community on account of their orderly conduct during the strike, and the agents have apparently done the best they could in granting the ten per cent. increase. They claim that the rate of wages paid here before the change was higher than that of Lawrence or New Bedford. Moreover, it is understood that one of the reasons for delay in announcing the increase was, that two of the local mills cannot afford it, their financial condition being less satisfactory than that of the others. All, however, were obliged to grant the same increase in order to settle the strike, and hence it is to be hoped that the operatives will accept the offer in the right spirit and thus end the strike for the benefit of all concerned.

THE SUN COMPLIMENTED

The Sun has received many compliments for the active part it took in bringing about a settlement of the strike. The Sun at all times stands for fair treatment for labor and due respect for the rights of others. If we had no factories we should have no operatives and our city would soon go off the map as a textile centre famed throughout the world. The Sun wants industrial peace under equitable conditions as that alone will protect the interests of all classes.

His brother, the priest, has ample opportunity on his witness stand to tell what he knows would free his brother, but the fact that his knowledge came to him through the confession, seals his lips and despite his mental anguish, he must see his brother convicted.

THE CONFESSION

The story of "The Confession" to be seen at the Opera House Friday, April 19th, is of a young man, Thomas Bartlett, who is accused of killing the brother of Rose, the girl to whom he is betrothed. It is said that the man had been mixed up in a bar room brawl, and the latter, Thomas, killed his friend. His brother, John Bartlett, is a priest to whom Joseph Dumont, a French Canadian, has confessed that he did the killing to satisfy a long-standing grudge.

EVER TAKE AN INTERNAL BATH?

It is the new and scientific Nature-cure for many ills.

A most interesting method of Internal Bathing is now being shown and explained by the Riker-Jaynes drug store. It is called the J. B. L. Cascade, and is different from anything else ever used for the purpose.

You have undoubtedly noticed that constipation and biliousness, besides bringing on much more serious ills, make us feel nervous, yellow, blue, unfit to think or work—in fact, about 50 per cent. efficient.

Accumulated waste in the large intestine always causes these troubles, and the old methods of ridding ourselves of it are only partially effective. They force Nature, too, instead of assisting her.

This Internal Bath, however, is taken perfectly naturally—you just use the appliance and warm water—it assists

Nature instead of forcing her, yet rids

the system of the poisonous matter much more thoroughly than any drugs

—it keeps one regular, too.

Inasmuch as many thousands are using and praising the J. B. L. Cascade, and the most enlightened physicians are prescribing it, it would be worth everyone's while to see the Cascade at the Riker-Jaynes drug store in Lowell, and let the principles and operation of this system be thoroughly explained;

this, of course, involves no obligation whatever.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Providence Journal: The bare list of the kindly services performed by Miss Clara Barton during her long life of ninety years is impressive. Her energies were attracted wherever suffering existed, and on both sides of the ocean her marvelous philanthropies were gratefully recognized by such decorations and diplomas of honor as governments use to express their formal approbation. Her career was as truly heroic as that of the bravest soldier for whose wounds she cared. She carried her beneficent ministries to the battlefields of the Civil war and to those of the Franco-Prussian conflict a few years later; she alleviated the distress at Johnsburg, when a disastrous flood overwhelmed that Pennsylvania town, and at Galveston, when a tidal wave swept over the city from the Gulf of Mexico. The Red Cross is a noble monument to her memory and to her genius for organized and effective benevolence.

"PREFERENDUM" FOR GOVERNOR

Brockton Eagle: Gov. Dix has a fine illustration of the American spirit when his car stuck in the mud at Cohoes the other night. Application was made to a farmer to haul the car out, but he refused, on the ground that the governor had voted a bill under which that section of road would have been properly rebuilt and that it would do him good to learn what the actual conditions were.

A handsomer offer of money made no difference in the farmer's attitude. But when the governor convinced the man he was mistaken and that the bill affecting that road had been signed the farmer's horses were brought into requisition and pay for the service was refused.

MAY ADVANCE LODGE

Courier-Citizen: The retirement of Senator Culver from the senate makes possible the advancement of Senator Lodge to the chairmanship of the committee on foreign relations, unless the wicked Democrats get control of that body after March 3, 1913, and reorganize all the committees with themselves at the head of the table.

Mr. Lodge is in line for promotion and if the republicans remain in power the honor will be his. That particular chairmanship ranks among the highest in the senate and Mr. Lodge is peculiarly well fitted to fill it with credit to himself and his state.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In the opinion of Dustin and Willard Farnam, the clever brothers and stars of "The Littlest Rebel," which will be the attraction at the Opera House Tuesday, April 16th, this popular drama of the war is destined to figure prominently in the negotiations for universal peace which are engrossing the attention of nations at the time. The story of "The Littlest Rebel" so strongly brings out the human phase of conditions which exist during the time of war, the heartaches of those who remain at home waiting for crusts of news from the ones in battle and the anguish of the men who give up their lives for their country with no hope of ever seeing their wives and children again, that the Farnam offering will eventually be held up as a potent argument in favor of the abolition of war. A number of important writers who it is said are taking up their pens in the cause of universal peace are calling the attention of the reading public to "The Littlest Rebel." The Farnam engagement at the Boston theatre lasted three months and was one of the big successes of the season. Mary Miles Minter, the cunning little rebel, is one of the big sensations in the present season's theatricals. She has proven to be one of the most remarkable young actresses on the American stage.

"THE RUNAWAY"

Miss Billie Burke is at her best in "The Runaway," the comedy to be seen here soon. The New York critics agree on that point. One of them says:

"Miss Burke never has appeared so charming, so winsome, so altogether fascinating as she does in the role of Colette, the country girl who runs away and snuggles herself into an artist's studio and heart. In the play Colette is but eighteen and the Colette of Billie Burke looks that age. She is selfish, she is littleish—she is Billie Burke grown younger and still more winsome. She is the Peter Pan of player ladies—she positively will not grow up."

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The usual run of eight big acts on the bill at Keith's is gone out better this week for nine acts are offered, all of the A1 order.

The special or extraordinary attraction is the celebrated Satinette Troupe of pipers, singers, dancers and acrobats direct from Scotland and one of the biggest novelties in vaudeville. The Lancashire company present a droll sketch entitled "Heaps of Hilarity" which aptly describes the act presented.

Johnson Howard and Lisette, the three tramps have a burlesque baseball game as a feature of their offering.

SOME GREAT BATTING

SCENE AT SPALDING PARK. (Manager Gray is in the center.)

Was Done by Lowell Team in Saturday's Game

The Lowell baseball team played the St. Anselm's college team at Spalding park Saturday and won by 24 to 3. It was the first game of the season and the Lowell players showed up in great style. At the opening of the game Manager Gray sent in all of his regulars, but as the game went on he made changes and gave all of the recruits a chance. The Lowell players showed that they are the same batters of old and they sent the ball to all corners of the lot.

There was a good attendance on hand considering the chilly weather and all are satisfied that Lowell will be well represented this year. While all of the "outs" showed up well the work of Ferrin in the field and Burke behind the bat was the feature of the showing of the new men. The best hitting lad was Jimmy Magee, who got three hits in as many times at bat. Billy Merritt as decision maker gave general satisfaction.

First Inning
Whalen walked, Harris sacrificed, Whalen bunt to second, McCarthy singled between centre and right, and Whalen scored. King foul bunted to Doulas. Domonkey grounded to Cooney who threw to Shaw getting King at second. Holcomb fanned. Whalen singled to centre, Harris hit to Shaw, who fumbled and he was safe. McCarthy walked. King died to Ferrin and Whalen scored. Domonkey hit to Cooney and was thrown out at first.

McCreahan opened for Lowell, hitting for Magee and walked. Wright struck out. Springfield hit to Leonard who misjudged the ball and he went to second and McCreahan took third. McCreahan scored on a wild pitch. Wildes walked. Wildes was thrown out in an attempt to steal second and Springfield scored. Tyler walked. Urquhart died to first. Score: St. Anselm's 2, Lowell 15.

King went in to pitch for the visiting and Haggerty went to centre field. Gladu walked. Reddington singled through short. Gladu going to second. Ferrin hit to deep left for three bases and tried to stretch it into a home run but was caught at the plate, and Reddington scored. McCreahan hit to King, who dropped the ball, and he took two bases. He went to third on a wild pitch. Duggan hit through the pitcher and McCreahan scored. Springfield bunted and was thrown out at first. Wilder foul batted to Harris.

Score: St. Anselm's 2, Lowell 18.

Seventh Inning
Holcomb fanned out to McCreahan. Whalen grounded out. Springfield to Duggan. Harris went out at first. For Lowell, Tyler hit to McCarthy, who threw wild and he was safe. Wright fanned. Gladu walked. SCENE AT BROOKLYN BALL PARK, WHERE DISORDER MARRED OPENING OF THE SEASON

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

BROOKLYN, April 15.—Although Charley Ebbets, president of Brooklyn baseball club, has declared that the disorderly scenes which marred the baseball opening at Washington Park on April 11 were not due to any just for gold, on his part, he is still being panned by the fans and critics for admitting some 2000 more persons than his enclosure would comfortably hold. The seating capacity of the stands is about 16,000 people, but about 25,000 entered the gates. The aisles were packed, and the field was so crowded that the players were not able to move around comfortably. The outfielders were just a few feet behind the infielders, and the backstops had some difficulty in doing their work. The newspaper men had great difficulty in covering the game. Mayor Gaynor, who threw the first ball, occupied a box for awhile, but after the first inning it was impossible for him to see the game. The police made room for his honor a few feet away from the home plate. It would be a good thing for the big leagues to govern the actions of the various clubs and prevent such scenes as accompanied the opening game in Brooklyn. Baseball is our most popular sport, but there is a limit to the patience of a fan. Upper picture shows close play at home plate—Catcher Phelps of Brooklyn touching Snodgrass of the Giants. Umpire Klein is in the background. Arrow shows Mayor Gaynor; lower one police keeping crowd back.

DIAMOND NOTES

The bids for the catering privileges at Spalding park will be received until Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

At that time all sealed bids must be on hand at the baseball headquarters of the Lowell team in the Albrecht building. All caterers are eligible and it is expected that many bids will be submitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Madon Wolfgang are refocusing over the arrival of a beautiful baby girl. The star visited the home of the star slab artist last week and was responsible for "papa's" delay in reporting to the team.

Eddie Berard, the mascot has grown several inches since last season. He is one of the happiest "men" on the team, owing to the fact that Wolfgang is coming back. The two were great chums last year and Eddie always received the benefits of the spit ball artist in practice.

Several of the "rookies" in the Lowell squad look awfully good.

Matty Zieser, a Mexican, has arrived in Lowell and comes as a part of the deal with Milwaukee in which Flaherty figured. Zieser is a pitcher, and Hugh Duffy, his former manager says that he has the goods.

This afternoon, the Lowell team will play with the Roslindale baseball club at Spalding park. The visiting aggregation is said to be one of the speediest of the semi-professional teams of New England. The lineup of the visitors will be Abbe et. Branigan 3b, Duest 2b, Morrison 1b, Desmond 4b, Martin or Gustafson as Sampson 1b, Garland or Morgan as Barkbank or Erlandson p.

A big crowd will go out to Spalding park, weather conditions permitting, Wednesday afternoon, when Providence, headed by Fred Lake, will come to town. Providence has a very strong team this year, but Manager Gray hopes to pass out a surprise on Wednesday.

nothing at hand to relieve the anxiety shown in every quarter.

Vice President P. A. Franklin of the International Merchant marine, the highest official of the White Star line here, was one of the first to be notified of the reported disaster but it was only through the Associated Press that he learned of it and for hours thereafter he could only express his astonishment at the news and his doubt that such a large and thoroughly protected ship as the Titanic could be in danger at sea. He was sure that if she had met with any accident he would have heard from her promptly.

"We are absolutely certain that even if she was in collision with an iceberg she is in no danger," he said. "With her numerous watertight compartments she is absolutely unsinkable and it makes no difference what she hits. The report should not cause any serious anxiety."

At 7:30 a.m. the White Star line offices were still without anything but newspaper advices of the reported disaster to their ship. They felt assured that whatever the situation might be there was this reassuring feature, that at least three liners had reported themselves in touch with the Titanic, that all of them were steaming toward her and that an unusually large number of other ships were near.

There was excellent reason for belief that even though the Titanic was in dire straits there was a fair chance that no lives would be lost. The Cape Race despatch reported the weather as calm and clear and in a reasonably quiet sea there is little danger in the transfer of the passengers to the life-boats and they can await with reasonably tranquillity the arrival of the Virginian this morning.

It was difficult for even mariners to interpret the situation from the Marconi despatches. They could not understand why it should be necessary to take off any passengers. If the liner were sinking slightly at the bow unless her captain felt that the water tight compartments would give way.

Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mill said he would grant a 10 per cent increase, the weavers will be allowed to weigh their cloth, the overtime work will be as before and there shall be no discrimination, and he is willing at any time to meet his employees.

Mr. Connell of the Trenmont & Surfolk, according to the committee was busy and would not see them this morning. At the Appleton the competent high. The Carmania reported that the French steamship Niagara had had a worse experience, having bumped into two small bergs which punched holes in her hull. The Niagara had this experience on Thursday and unless she has greatly reduced speed should reach port some time today.

P. S. A. Franklin, vice president of the White Star line, sent the following wireless message to Captain E. S. Smith, the Titantic's commander, this morning:

"Anxiously awaiting information, full particulars disposition of passengers."

Think Boat Safe

At 5:30 this morning Vice President Franklin of the White Star line, gave out the following statement:

"We place absolute confidence in the Titantic. We believe the boat is absolutely unsinkable, and although we may have sunk at the head or bow, we know that the boat would remain on the water. We do not attach any significance to the fact that the boat is in communication with other steamers, for she may have gotten off all the messages she wanted to send. We are not at all worried about the loss of the ship but we are extremely sorry for the annoyance and the inconvenience to our passengers. You can make our views as favorable as you like regarding the capabilities of the ship to withstand any exterior damage. We figure the Virginian of the Allan line will be alongside the Titantic by ten o'clock and we figure the Olympic of the White Star line, will be with the Titantic at 3 o'clock and the Baltic an hour later."

The Olympic left here last Saturday. Vice President Franklin also said after giving out his formal statement that they figured the boat 1000 miles from New York and 600 miles from Halifax. He added that no direct communication had been received from the liner.

Mr. Franklin said he had received a brief wireless despatch from the Olympic saying she had talked by wireless with the Titantic at 4:20 this morning. This message shows that the Titantic was still about six hours after the reported accident.

The officers of the Titantic are:

Captain E. J. Smith, commander; surgeon, W. E. Loughlin; assistant surgeon, J. E. Simpson; purser, H. W. McElroy; second purser, R. L. Brock; chief steward, A. Latimer.

Among the passengers on the Titantic were Clarence Moore who married Miss Mabel Swift, and Milton Long, nephew of Mrs. Jessie Shepard.

THE TAXES

It is noticeable and equally interesting to observe how much some people make of TAXES. We won't just now enter on discussion as to the justice or lack of justice under prevailing practice, but call attention to the fact that many who show such activity prior to April 1st could do much toward providing the wherewithal to meet their final tax assessments, if they showed the same activity and thoughtfulness in making their Bank Deposits work for them throughout the year. Much on the Cash on hand, the Cash waiting investment, the Cash waiting any use, earn interest while idle. Five Hundred Dollar balances earn interest at Middlesex Trust Co. at rate of two per cent. Interest commences when deposit is made. Money is always subject to checks. The interest earned will pay many things, and as we started to say, it will help pay the taxes.

FINE RECEPTION

Tendered Mgr. O'Brien Yesterday

EXCELLENT PROGRAM PRESENTED BY YOUNG WOMEN

The Affair Was Conducted at Notre Dame in Presence of Large Number

Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien, P. R., was yesterday tendered a fine reception at the Notre Dame academy by the members of the alumnae of that institution in honor of his elevation to this high position in the Catholic church. Mgr. O'Brien, although deeply touched, received the many gifts which were offered him and expressed his heartfelt thanks to the large assembly. An elaborate program concluded the ceremony.

The program was as follows:

Selection, Notre Dame orchestra; piano solo, Euphemia Marin; violin solo, Blanche Walsh; address and presentation by president, Miss Mary Egan; address, Monsignor O'Brien.

After the reception guests assembled in the library, where refreshments were served, during which time music was furnished by the Notre Dame orchestra.

HOME RULE BILL

Was Ridiculed by Ex-Premier Balfour

LONDON, April 15.—Ex-Premier Balfour resumed the debate in the house of commons this afternoon on the "Government of Ireland" bill which was introduced in March, 1912, April 11 by Premier Asquith.

Mr. Balfour ridiculed a government measure for Irish home rule, describing it as "an unsymmetrical and botched federal scheme utterly unworthy of British statesmanship."

"Was this topsy-turvy scheme," the opposition speaker said, "imitating the architecture of the great federal system beyond the seas?"

The alleged supremacy of the imperial parliament, Mr. Balfour declared, was about equivalent to the ancient claims of British sovereigns to be king of France.

Mr. Balfour said that he did not believe that any sane English or Scottish member would support the insane customs proposal which divides the suggested federal system by customs barriers. If Ireland, he said, could use the customs to differentiate against foreign nations, the government would find itself involved in apalling difficulties concerning the most favored nation clause.

Mr. Balfour declared that while other nations including the United States and Germany and the British colonies felt that if they were to hold their places in the world it must be by integration Great Britain was to undergo a process of disintegration through the proposed "topsy-turvy federation."

BURNED TO DEATH

LAWRENCE, April 15.—While attempting to pour oil from a pitcher into a heated water heater in the bathroom of her home, Mrs. Nettie S. Colby, widow of George M. Colby, was burned to death at 6:30 last night before aid could reach her. She was alone in the house.

The fire had quickly spread to the window curtains and had been seen by John J. Breen and Ernest Winslow. The former sent in a fire alarm and the two then broke into a window and ran to the upper floor in an effort to save Mrs. Colby. They found her body in the bathroom on the third floor of the large dwelling, burned almost beyond recognition.

Word was sent to a daughter, Mrs. Ida Blackwell, who was attending evening service in the Free Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. E. C. McCollum, discontinued his congregation when he learned of the fatality.

OPENING OF Y. M. C. A. ROOMS

Special exercises will mark the formal opening of the temporary headquarters for the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock in the Runels hall of the Runels building. There will be solos by Mr. Wm. J. Wilson, duets by Messrs. John S. Mohr and P. Waldron Edmunds, selection by the Merrimack orchestra, Mr. Thomas Buckley, manager; brief reports on the work of the past season, an address by Mr. Fred Temple of Boston, manager last year of the Boston Nationals. Light refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

STRIKERS TO ACCEPT POLICE SEEK DORR

Many of Them Vote to Return to Work Monday

In Connection With Murder of George E. Marsh

Although the sentiment of the different nationalities points to an acceptance of the increase offered by the mill officials, the strike is not as yet settled, and the members of the I. W. W. still do picket duty. Delegates representing the different nationalities called upon the agents of their respective mills this morning with a letter asking for certain concessions besides the 10 per cent. Increase and according to reports three of the agents were seen and they promised to grant the demands as presented by the strike committee. Private meetings of the various nationalities will be held within the next two days and a vote will be taken as to whether or not the operatives are willing to accept the agents terms. Later the delegates will report to the strike committee and a final vote will be taken. The delegates expressed their opinion at the meeting which was held this morning and with the exception of a couple, all are in favor of accepting the increase and return to work.

The loomfixers and the mule spinners held meetings this morning and voted to accept the mill officials offer and return to work on Monday, and besides they voted to grant permission to all those who would be asked to go to work this week to do so, and consequently a large number of loomfixers resumed work in the various mills this morning in order to get the looms in shape for Monday.

The parade held this morning in connection with picketing was by far the largest ever held. It is calculated that over 4000 people were in line. There was much cheering but no trouble.

Mr. John G. Britwell of Lowell has accepted position as manager for Swift & Co., Woburn, Mass.

LYNN, April 15.—Chief of Police Burke announced that the man for Boston, whom the Lynn inspectors are searching in Maine and New York state and whom they wish to question in regard to the murder of George E. Marsh, the wealthy soap manufacturer, is E. W. Dorr of Stockton, Cal. The first information that Dorr was in the east and had seen Marsh recently came, Chief Burke said, from Chief of Police of Stockton, who on the day after the murder telephoned the Lynn police asking if a "low-sized man" had been seen recently with Marsh. The inquiry which followed led to the discovery at Marsh's home of a letter written to him by another George Marsh, supposed to be a nephew of the murdered man. In this letter the police say the writer referred to Dorr and advised Marsh not to endorse any notes for Dorr.

The police have learned the number of the automobile in which they believe Marsh's body was taken to the place where it was found and are trying to trace its ownership.

Chief of Police Burkes received word shortly after noon from Inspector Wilson Thorne of the Lynn police that Thorne had found the automobile in Boston. The car had been abandoned near Stanhope street with the steering gear somewhat disabled and had been taken to a nearby garage. In the bottom of the automobile, Inspector Thorne telephoned the chief, was 22 caliber automobile rifle. The inspector arranged to have the car towed to Lynn and took possession of the rifle.

over and congratulated him on the manner in which the policing was done. "The police arrangements here," he said, "were better than we experienced in any part of the country. Everything was perfect and Mr. Roosevelt has asked me to congratulate you." "Thanks to Mr. Roosevelt and yourself," said Supt. Welch. "Our desire is to do everything in the best way possible and, as a general rule, that's the way we do it."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from a platform on the easterly side of the station and he reached the platform through the depot archway. It was here that the perfect policing showed itself. Human beings swarmed like bees, but the way from the car to the platform was kept absolutely clear.

William N. Osgood of this city, who had accompanied the Roosevelt party through New Hampshire during the day, introduced the colonel as "the next president of the United States." In part, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Recently I saw that Mr. Butler Ames of your city was reported as saying that he would rather be defeated by Taft than elected with me. I don't often agree with Butler Ames in matters political, but I most heartily agree with him in this case. I would rather see him defeated with anybody than be elected with me."

"I want to congratulate the people of Massachusetts on their progressive-ness in voting for a direct primary for the presidential nomination, but I hope that your legislators will not stop at that. I would like to see you elect your senators by direct vote. When I ask for genuine popular rule, I ask that the people be given the same chance that the individual expects in his relations with the individual."

"We all make mistakes now and then, but when I make them I want to make them myself. I don't want someone else to make them for me. If I make them myself, I won't make them twice, while someone else may. In the long run, day in and day out, the American people will govern themselves better than anyone acting for them, as a representative part."

"I stand for a more direct government by the people. Whenever you strike a job, you will find another man ready to take it up and work it for his own interests. In politics, it is the same—if you waive your rights, and delegate your power to others, the bosses will assume full control. That is why I have been asking for a presidential primary, and now, in this state, you buy the opportunity of saying whether you are with me or with the politicians. I want to see Massachusetts continue in advance of the procession, as she has in the past; if you don't go forward, you are sure to go back."

"I can't enter into a discussion of the campaign. I simply ask you to judge my words by my deeds. Among the many accusations which the inter-ests have hurled at me (and there is nothing of which I have not been accused) is that I am a 'dictator,' but did you ever hear of me dictating to the people? I know the American people are fit to govern themselves and can do it better than a 'representative minority,' and I hope that the American people will take the trouble to do it. I base my belief in the future of America on my knowledge of the American people."

The train to which Mr. Roosevelt's car was attached did not reach the Middlesex street station until 10:15 and the tracks in front of the station and the platform were crowded. The meeting, however, was complete and Mr. Post, the man who was looking out for Mr. Roosevelt's interests, sent for Redmond Welch when all was agreeable, stood beside the writer and complained bitterly because she could not see the speaker. "I've seen so many pictures in the papers and they are all so different that I want to see the man." The poor little soul complained and was almost in the point of weeping when she mustered up courage to say: "Please lift me up so that I can see Mr. Roosevelt. I want to see him smile and I want to see his teeth." It was a lady's request and we never turned one down since we crossed the 49 line.

The greatest cheer given Mr. Roosevelt was when he referred to a remark made by Congressman Butler Ames. It was alleged that Mr. Ames said he would rather be defeated with Taft than be elected with Roosevelt, and Teddy retorted that that was agreeable to him.

Got After Congressman Ames in Speech Here Saturday Night

More than 800 people, nearly half of them women, listened to Theodore Roosevelt make a campaign speech at the Middlesex street station Saturday night. Mr. Roosevelt was very boisterous, having made several speeches during the day and a great many who gathered there did not hear what he said. One man hollered: "How about Standard Oil?" Teddy muffed the query and just then another fellow shouted: "Go it Teddy, you're the boy for me." The fellow who couldn't hear Mr. Roosevelt was entertained by comments of his neighbors and the comments were varied. There were a great many people there and they were not all for Roosevelt, but it was plain to be seen that most of the fair sex were strong for Teddy. One of them, a little shorter than the average, stood beside the writer and complained bitterly because she could not see the speaker. "I've seen so many pictures in the papers and they are all so different that I want to see the man." The poor little soul complained and was almost in the point of weeping when she mustered up courage to say: "Please lift me up so that I can see Mr. Roosevelt. # RICHARDS IN COURT

Police Didn't Believe His Threat to Commit Suicide

George A. Richards, the man who tried to bluff the police that he had committed suicide, was arraigned in court this morning on a complaint charging him with illegal cohabitation.

It is alleged that Richards was married a number of years ago but tired of his wife soon after the marriage and left her. Subsequently he met one Clara Dion and it is alleged that he was married to her and the pair had been living in Baldwin street, this city. When Richards' first wife, who was in Manchester, heard of the whereabouts of her husband, she notified the police and the pair were arrested.

When arraigned in court about a week ago, the case was continued in order that the Lawrence police could serve a warrant. Richards secured bail and a few days afterwards Supt. Welch received a letter supposed to be sent by Richards which stated that he was ashamed to appear in court and intended to commit suicide by drowning himself in the Merrimack river and in about nine days his body would be found in the river between Lowell and Lawrence.

The story did not throw the police off the track, however, and Saturday

Richards was arrested in Manchester and brought back to this city.

Larceny of Rain Coat

A man who gave the name of James B. Keilb was called upon to answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a rain coat belonging to George H. Dana, the well known automobile man. Inasmuch as the government was not ready for trial, the case was continued till next Monday.

Neglected His Children

WILLIAM Landry after being found guilty of failing to provide support for his three minor children was sentenced to five months in jail.

Drunken Offenders

Bernard F. Higgins was sentenced to the state farm but appealed. Peter McLane, a parole man, will be returned to the state farm.

Dennis Kennedy was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail. George L. Ferris was fined $6, one first offender was fined $2 and five simple drunks were released.

James T. Ganley, of this city, was arrested Saturday night by Captain Brosnan for the Lawrence police. Ganley is well known to the police of New England and only recently completed an 18 months' term in jail.

SENATOR BAILEY

Is Threatened With Typhoid Fever

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas is ill and threatened with typhoid fever. He sent word to his colleagues that his pointed Roy, J. B. Labossiere, chaplain of the district council was received with tremendous applause. Fr. Labossiere who was present at the meeting was called upon for a few remarks.

At the request of Chambain council of South Lawrence, it was unanimously voted to hold the next convention at the Justice place on the second Sunday in July. The following were appointed as a press committee to inform the French and English press of the doings of the council: Emile Garneau, Lawrence; Joseph P. Montmire, Lowell; André Brochu, Jr., Amesbury; Thomas Bois, Salem.

A very important item brought before the meeting was the question of holding an annual outing on a large scale, this being suggested by Mr. Bergeron of Lynn. His ideas are to have an annual outing each year if possible on July 4 in order to group together the several thousand members of the union and their families. This proposition was well received by the convention and immediately a committee composed of the following was appointed to look into the possibilities of having such events: Mr. Bergeron, Lynn; chairman; André Brochu, Sr., Amesbury; Pierre A. Brousseau, Lowell; Henri Ragot, St. Jean Baptiste; Mr. Caron, South Lawrence, and President L. A. Thibault, ex-officio.

The following were appointed as a press committee to inform the French and English press of the doings of the council: Emile Garneau, Lawrence; Joseph P. Montmire, Lowell; André Brochu, Jr., Amesbury; Thomas Bois, Salem.

A very important item brought before the meeting was the question of holding an annual outing on a large scale, this being suggested by Mr. Bergeron of Lynn. His ideas are to have an annual outing each year if possible on July 4 in order to group together the several thousand members of the union and their families. This proposition was well received by the convention and immediately a committee composed of the following was appointed to look into the possibilities of having such events: Mr. Bergeron, Lynn; chairman; André Brochu, Sr., Amesbury; Pierre A. Brousseau, Lowell; Henri Ragot, St. Jean Baptiste; Mr. Caron, South Lawrence, and President L. A. Thibault, ex-officio.

The meeting was brought to a close with a vote of thanks to St. Jean Baptiste council for its cordial reception. There was a large delegation from Lowell present at the convention.

EASTER PROGRAMS in the Catholic Churches Yesterday

In all the Catholic churches yesterday the Easter musical programs were repeated by the church choirs. Large congregations were present and the programs were given in an excellent manner.

At St. Margaret's church yesterday the high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Reardon. Fr. Reardon also gave the sermon. He said that the parish lines that were recently announced, whereby the parish annexed a part of St. Peter's parish have been changed back to the original lines.

Sacred Heart Church

At the 7:30 mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday the members of the Holy Name society received communion in a body. There was a large number at the mass. The high mass at 10:30 was celebrated by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The sermon was preached by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. who took as his subject "Peace Be With You." The musical program was given in a most excellent manner.

Tonight the members of both choirs will be given a banquet by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I.

were pushed back and the musical and literary program was opened with Pres. Cook, as master of ceremonies. The St. Peter's Banjo and Mandolin club scored a big hit.

Rev. Fr. Burns, the beloved spiritual director, received a warm welcome when he was introduced by Pres. Cook, and he spoke eloquently on the splendid showing of the men, complimenting them on their steadfastness to the society and its quarterly communions.

The program was then presented and every number was well received. The program follows:

St. Michael's Church

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's church held a meeting last night at which John J. Haviland presided. Mr. Haviland gave a report of the proceedings of the convention of the Catholic Federation. The membership committee is determined to strengthen the society during the summer months and has requested each member to bring in at least one member.

St. John's, No. Chelmsford

The masses at St. John's church were celebrated yesterday morning at the usual hours by Rev. Fr. Doherty. The Easter music was repeated at the second mass. The members of the Holy Name society and the Catholic club received communion at the first mass in a body to the number of about 550. Fr. Doherty took occasion to compliment the men at both the masses and was very much pleased with the large numbers.

At each mass a sermon was preached on the Gospel.

In the afternoon at 3:30 benediction was given by Rev. Fr. Schofield, pastor, and the relics were blessed.

The Holy Name society held its regular monthly meeting last night at 7:30. After the recitation of the office, instructions on holy communion were given by the spiritual director, Rev. Fr. Doherty.

A Disastrous Fire in Augusta, Me.

AUGUSTA, Me., April 15.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a fire which raged for more than four hours early today and which for a time threatened to wipe out considerable of the business section of this city. Starting from an unknown cause in the basement of a fruit store in the Boynton block on Water street, the fire spread rapidly to other wooden buildings on that thoroughfare. Hard work by the firemen and the fact that brick buildings were located on either side of the wooden blocks kept the flames from spreading beyond the section running between numbers 131-161.

The old city hotel building and the Theatre Comique were destroyed and a tenement house was also wiped out. The losers included Rand and Stearns, bakers; Wilfrid Perry, restaurant; Mrs. Margaret Merrill, theatre, and Bowling Alley; Nathan Richmont, dry-goods store; Lewis Levine, fruit store; C. E. Dargett, fish market; C. B. Murphy, drug store.

Considerable of the property burned was owned by Charles B. Bowman of Los Angeles, Cal. Occupants of stores and tenements in the burned buildings lost goods worth $85,000 and the loss on the damaged buildings reached $35,000. About 80 per cent of the loss is covered by insurance.

When the fire started about 25 persons were asleep in the old City hotel building, and they were obliged to flee into the streets, many of them being unable to secure their clothing and effects. The flames reached the building soon after they made their escape and their return to save property was made impossible. Several firemen had a narrow escape from injury when a wall on the rear end of one of the buildings fell. The men were wedged in between the river and the burning buildings and were forced to make a hasty run out of the danger zone to avoid being struck by the falling wall. A few firemen were overcome by smoke which filled the whole business section.

WHO TOILS HARDEST?

One of the main contentions of the socialists in their onslaughts on capital and the wage system is, that the men who preside over large corporations "do not work." This is undoubtedly a popular delusion. It is true that they do not work with heavy tools such as the pick and shovel; but many a man at the head of some large business envies the man who can drop his pick and shovel at 5 or 6 o'clock daily and have nothing more to do until 7 or 8 o'clock the next morning. These reflections have been suggested by the remark of a corporation man who expressed the wish that he could go to his home at the close of working hours and leave his business behind him. He envied the man who drops his pick at a certain hour and who can enjoy his rest at home without fretting and worrying over things that have gone wrong and other things that are liable to go wrong.

The man who is employed at manual labor does not know what mental worry is. He can forget his work the minute his hours of labor are over and need not think of it again till the next day. Not so with the mill agent, the business man or the professional mental toiler, each of whom is responsible to somebody else for certain results.

What if these results be not attained? What if the outlook is bad? Will the discouraging prospect not follow the official like an avenging Nemesis wherever he goes? Will it not affect his digestion, his nervous system and keep him awake nights? While the man who works on the street, in the sewer or in the subordinate capacity in the factory, has no responsibility outside of working hours, the business man, the high official, the banker and the merchant, feel it all the time. How often are these men worried into their graves by failure in business while their employes are care free and even willing to denounce them as idlers who live on other people's money!

It is not generally known that the hardest labor of all is intense mental labor. It has been said by a well known business man in this city that in the ups and downs of business he has often endured more real mental anguish in one night than the average laborer would experience in the whole course of his life.

It is very easy to make general charges against men who are at the head of large undertakings, and accuse them of not working for a living. The fact is, that most of them work from ten to fifteen, or sixteen hours a day, that is, they are occupied mentally during that time with the affairs of their business and many of them cannot drop it if they tried. The frequent business failures, the loss of fortunes with the reverses arising from competition and other causes, bear testimony to the trials and struggles of business men in their battle for success. Yet when they do succeed by patient industry through many years, by frugality, courage and enterprise, they are not likely to enjoy being accused of robbing the laborer of his "hard earned toil." The fact is, that they have worked a great deal harder than did any laborer and they have dearly earned every dollar they possess. The man who invests his money in any industry takes serious chances of loss while at best his dividends may not amount to more than what he would receive if like the mill operative he deposited the money in the bank.

The mental toilers, the men who plan and direct or supervise, are the men who, as a rule, work hardest and longest. They are the men who have to bear the most intense anxiety and all the ills that mental strain entails. If it were possible for the average laborer to realize what one of these men has to go through, we do not believe he would be willing to change places with the mental worker, or if he did we believe he would probably wish he were back at his former job on which his wages were secure every Saturday night and he was free of all responsibility except in business hours.

THE END OF THE MILL STRIKE

It is gratifying to know that the industrial conflict that has retarded business in our city since March 26th is soon to terminate. While the strikers have scored what may be termed a victory, it is to be regretted that the mills will remain closed for another week, but perhaps this prolonged shut-down will prevent curtailment later on. The mills in New Bedford after granting a 10 per cent. increase have already planned for a period of curtailment in the summer. The Lowell mills will probably find it difficult to catch up with their orders by working continuously through the summer and fall.

The mill business has been as good this year as at any time during the past six years, and it must have been a serious blow to the local factories to lose a month's business. It was certainly a very great loss not only to the operatives but to the business men of the city to have mills closed for an entire month.

We believe the operatives will all return to work next Monday with the best of feeling and determined to do their utmost to promote the interest of their employers. The 10 per cent. increase will mean considerable in the long run as it will give the operatives at least $10,000 a week more than they had been receiving under the old schedule.

The operatives have won the respect of the community on account of their orderly conduct during the strike, and the agents have apparently done the best they could in granting the ten per cent. increase. They claim that the rate of wages paid here before the change was higher than that of Lawrence or New Bedford. Moreover, it is understood that one of the reasons for delay in announcing the increase was, that two of the local mills cannot afford it, their financial condition being less satisfactory than that of the others. All, however, were obliged to grant the same increase in order to settle the strike, and hence it is to be hoped that the operatives will accept the offer in the right spirit and thus end the strike for the benefit of all concerned.

THE SUN COMPLIMENTED

The Sun has received many compliments for the active part it took in bringing about a settlement of the strike. The Sun at all times stands for fair treatment for labor and due respect for the rights of others. If we had no factories we should have no operatives and our city would soon go off the map as a textile centre famed throughout the world. The Sun wants industrial peace under equitable conditions as that alone will protect the interests of all classes.

EVER TAKE AN INTERNAL BATH?

It is the new and scientific Nature cure for many ills.

A most interesting method of Internal Bathing is now being shown and explained by the Riker-Jayne drug store. It is called the J. B. L. Cascade and is different from anything else ever used for the purpose.

You have undoubtedly noticed that constipation and biliousness, besides bringing on much more serious ills, make us feel nervous, yellow, blue-unfit to think or work—in fact, about 50 per cent. efficient.

Accumulated waste in the large intestine always causes these troubles, and the old methods of ridding ourselves of it are only partially effective. They force Nature to, instead of assisting her.

This Internal Bath, however, is taken perfectly naturally—you just use the appliance and warm water—it assists Nature instead of forcing her, yet rids the system of the poisonous matter much more thoroughly than any drugs it keeps one regular, too.

Inasmuch as many thousands are using and praising the J. B. L. Cascade, and the most enlightened physicians are prescribing it, it would seem worth everyone's while to see the Cascade at the Riker-Jayne drug store in Lowell, and let the principles and operation of the system be thoroughly explained, of course, involves no obligation whatever.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Providence Journal: The barest list of the kindly services performed by Miss Clara Barton during her long life of ninety years is impressive. Her energies were attracted wherever suffering existed, and on both sides of the ocean her marvelous philanthropies were gratefully recognized by such decorations and diplomas of honor as governments use to express their formal appreciation. Her career was not truly heroic as that of the bravest soldier for whose wounds she cared. She carried her beneficent ministry to the battlefields of the Civil war and to those of the Franco-Prussian conflict a few years later, alleviated the distress at Johns-town, when a disastrous flood overwhelmed that Pennsylvania town, and at Galveston, when a tidal wave swept over the city from the Gulf of Mexico. The Red Cross is a noble monument to her memory and to her genius for organized and effective benevolence.

"THE COUNTRY BOY"

"The Country Boy," Edgar Selwyn's great comedy hit, which comes direct from its successful engagement at the Park Theatre, Boston, will be presented at the Opera House Saturday, April 20, matinee and night. The cast includes the well-known names of Ethel Clayton, Helen Hilton, Carolyn Wilbert, Mrs. Charles G. Craig, Ida Glenn, Marion Stevenson, Kate Donnelly, Ilia Dudley Hawley, George A. Wright, Joseph Kaufman, Alfred Moore, Walter Allen, J. Horwitz, George H. Wender and J. Hartman Roeder. The story of "The Country Boy" is that of a young man from a small town who goes to New York city to make his way. In the great city he is immediately caught in the treacherous undercurrent of metropolitan life, and loses sight of his goal and the stimulus for his ambition through the dazzling influence of an unscrupulous city girl who puts him through his paces and only throws him over when his last cent is gone and he has lost his job. On the verge of being put out by his landlady, he determines on suicide, but he is rescued in the very nick of time by a newspaper man, with a healthy, optimistic view of life, who, in the cleverest manner imaginable, succeeds in restoring the lad to his original self-respect and enthusiasm, at the same time starting him away from the city and back to the shelter of his own home town where he afterwards finds the success he thought could only be gained in the city.

MONTGOMERY AND STONE

When Montgomery and Stone come to town local theatricals who greatly enjoyed them and their company last year will be glad to welcome with the two star comedians, Miss Flossie Hope, the dainty little soubrette, whose dancing gave so much pleasure last year. Miss Hope is a Boston girl who did her earliest noticeable work in "Miss Hook of Holland" and "The Daisy Maids." It is said that she is slated for a very important role in the big musical comedy which Mr. Charles Dillingham is getting ready for the Globe theatre, New York, for next season.

"THE RUNAWAY"

Miss Billie Burke is at her best in "The Runaway," the comedy to be seen here soon. The New York critics agree on that point. One of them says: "Miss Burke never has appeared so charming, so winsome, so altogether fascinating as she does in the role of Colette, the country girl who runs away and smuggles herself into an artist's studio and heart." In the play Colette is but eighteen and the Colette of Billie Burke looks that age. She is foolish, she is kittenish—she is Billie Burke grown younger and still more winsome. She is the Peter Pan of player ladies—she positively will not grow up."

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The usual run of eight big acts on the bill at Keith's is gone, but better this week for nine acts are offered, all of the A1 order. The special or extraordinary attraction is the celebrated Satellites Troupe of pipers, singers, dancers and acrobats direct from Scotland and one of the biggest novelties in vaudeville. The Lancashire company present a droll sketch entitled "Leaps of Hilarity" which aptly describes the act presented. Johnson Howard and Eiscott, the three tramps have a burlesque base ball game as a feature of their funny offering. Carney and Wagner are singers and dancers but not of the ordinary kind. Their work is clean-cut and new. "Happy" O'Neill well known in Knights of Columbus circles as the youngest member, sings and talks in a classy act, assisted on the piano by O. E. Story. The Three Romans present a novelty in the athletic line. They are two men and a woman and they perform all sorts of acrobatic stunts on the perpendicular ladders. Evans and Vidor, behind black faces, hand out songs and recitations. Dogmar Dunlap and Elsie Folke are two charming musicians on the harp and violin and singing besides. Then there are the pictures, all forming one of the strongest bills of the season.

THE CONFESSION

The story of "The Confession" to be seen at the Opera House, Friday, April 12th, is of a young man, Thomas Bartlett, who is accused of killing the brother of Rose, the girl to whom he is betrothed. It is said that the man had been mixed up in a bar room brawl, and the latter, Thomas, killed his friend. His brother, John Bartlett, is a priest to whom Joseph Dumont, a French Canadian, has confessed that he did the killing to satisfy a long-standing grudge.

Circumstances point to Thomas Bartlett as the murderer, and in due course he is convicted and sentenced to death, despite an elaborate and earnest defense. His brother, the priest, has ample opportunity on the witness stand to tell what he knows would free his brother, but the fact that his knowledge came to him through the confession, seals his lips and despite his mental anguish, he must see his brother convicted.

Steele and McMasters are comedy roller skaters who introduce many laughable features. Their act is a most amusing one and will keep their audiences in a merry mood from first to last.

Alice D'Garmo, known as The Queen of the Air, introduces a sensational series of thrilling stunts in mid-air. This young woman has played most of the big cities of the east and has scored heavily in all places.

Betty Beauvere, assisted by Willard Reed and Miss Nancy St. John, presenting a novel sketch entitled "Cleopatra's Pastimes," will be an added attraction that promises well.

The photo-plays for the week will again be up to the high standard of the past. Among the feature pictures will be "The Redemption of Greek Joe," "He Is Eligible," "A Pie Worth While," and others just as entertaining. The views of present-day events will also prove amusing.

On Friday night the Merrimack Square Theatre concert orchestra will feature selections from "The Devil's Disciple," "Light Opera," "The Golden Princess." Patron of this playhouse is the Riker-Jayne drug store in Lowell, and let the principles and operation of the system be thoroughly explained, of course, involves no obligation.

This Internal Bath, however, is taken perfectly naturally—you just use the appliance and warm water—it assists Nature instead of forcing her, yet rids the system of the poisonous matter much more thoroughly than any drugs it keeps one regular, too.

SOME GREAT BATTING

Was Done by Lowell Team in Saturday's Game

The Lowell baseball team played the St. Anselm's college team at Spalding park Saturday and won by 24 to 3. It was the first game of the season and the Lowell players showed up in great style. At the opening of the game Manager Gray sent in all of his regulars, but as the game went on he made changes and gave all of the recruits a chance. The Lowell players showed that they are the same batters of old and they sent the ball to all corners of the lot.

There was a good attendance on hand considering the chilly weather and all are satisfied that Lowell will be well represented this year. While all of the "vets" showed up well the work of Ferlin in the field and Burke behind the bat was the feature of the showing of the new men. The real hitting kid was Jimmy Magee, who got three hits in as many times at bat. Billy Merritt as decision maker gave general satisfaction.

EXPERT REX'S REPORT

Municipal Council Will Ask Him to Prove His Statements

The municipal council will meet tomorrow afternoon and will take some definite action on the matter of a suitable hospital site. The report of the expert accountant, Mr. Rex will come before the board and one of the commissioners stated today that he thought Mr. Rex should be summoned to explain his criticism of officials and methods employed in certain offices.

The board is not by any means unanimous in desiring to accept Mr. Rex's report with the understanding that everything contained therein is the gospel truth. At least two of the commissioners are from Missouri so to speak, and they want to be shown. The assessors of taxes declare that Mr. Rex made statements that had no foundation in fact and it is up to Mr. Rex to prove his statements. That's about the way the thing is handled out at city hall. Mr. Rex's bill hasn't been paid yet and, as a matter of fact, he has not submitted it to Alderman Barrett, said today that the bill ought not to be paid until Mr. Rex had made good on his charges. If Mr. Rex makes good then it is up to the municipal council to do the rest. The chances are the meeting tomorrow afternoon will be a very lively and a very interesting one.

John streets. It is said that the corporation will demonstrate a fight such as would be used providing the municipal council should vote for a great white way.

The New Reservoir

Work on the new reservoir in Centralville was resumed this morning after a lapse of time that dated back to the cold weather period and covered several weeks. Commissioner Barrett said today that everything would be in readiness for the concrete work in a few days. Cyrus Barton has the contract for the concrete work and one of the stipulations of the contract is that he shall employ Lowell labor and that the laborers shall work the same number of hours as the city laborers, eight hours a day. The machine for shaping the steel to be used in the reservoir is on the ground and will be put in operation within a day or two. The machine was bought new and cost about $50. The work being done at the reservoir at the present time includes excavation work and the laying of the 30-inch pipe from the new reservoir to connect with the old system at the corner of Beacon and Sixth streets.

New Boulevard Wells

Just as soon as the special castings ordered for the new wells at the boulevard arrive the system will be opened up. The work of installing the wells will be in readiness when the castings arrive and they are now on the way. It is expected that the new wells will be more productive than the old wells and the old wells and the latter will be given a good rest just as soon as the new wells are made ready for business.

The Great White Way

The commission of streets and highways will have a bunch of petitions to present at tomorrow's meeting and there is one that is said to have to do with the great white way proposed by the commission in the long ago. The petition in question is from the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to attach wires temporarily to poles in Merrimack and

STOCK MARKET

WAS STRONG AT THE CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

Great interest in the day's trading—Prices Of Issues At The Top—The List As A Whole Was Moving In Sympathy

NEW YORK, April 15.—Acute weakness was shown by the stock market at today's opening. The 4 1/2 per cent bonds of the International Mercantile company declined two points with a fall of four points in the preferred stock, presumably on account of the accident of the Titanic. There were losses of a point or more in the Harriman and Hill issues, Lehigh Valley, U. S. Steel, Utah and Anaconda Copper, General Electric and numerous other issues.

International Mercantile pfd. made up much of its loss later in the morning. The most prominent feature was the extent of the dealing in American Can issues, both the common and preferred going to new high records, with a gain of 3 1/2 points. Amal. Copper, on which dividend action was imminent, gained a full point.

Before midday all adverse considerations seemed to be forgotten and the market continued its forward march with especial strength in the standard issues, foremost among which was U. S. Steel. Numerous specialties participated in today's movements. One of the obscure stocks was conspicuous by its rise of almost 10 points.

Activity in American Can was maintained during the noon hour, by which time the common had gained three points and the pfd. six. Prices made further upward progress virtually the entire speculative group, selling well above last Saturday's best. Although dealings shrank greatly the advances were not interfered with, prices rising steadily so that many of the important stocks turned their early losses of a point or more into singular gains. Among these were U. P. and U. S. Steel. A long list of other issues were up from one to six points. Later buying was particularly effective in Amalgamated Copper, Louisville & Nashville, Pittsburgh Coal pfd. and American Can.

The market closed strong. The last hour brought no diminution of interest and prices of some issues were at the top. Caus. Increased their previously quoted figures and the list as a whole was moving in sympathy.
